Foreword

"Open to me the gates of the rightousness that I may enter through them and give thanks."

Psalms 118:19

As we travel this road we have chosen, we open all gates, round all corners, explore the concealed, and become sure of our steps.

We, the class of 1961, have chosen our road and have studied our guide to help us journey safely. Our three years at the Medical Center were difficult at times and challenging always, but with every new experience we gained confidence and courage to continue and improve.

No road is without its stumbling places or enlightening moments, and so it is with our profession. We would struggle to conquer an obstacle just in time to share a meaningful moment.

The following pages of this, the 1961 edition of the "Tres Anni", will show a glimpse of the road we have traveled. Perhaps in viewing the following pages, you will perceive our feeling of progress as we have tried to present--"THE ROAD WE TOOK".

MEDICAL COLLEGE HOSPITAL

Opened in 1955, this building is a vital part of the Medical Center. It is here that the well-gained knowledge of the past and the research of today effectively serves the generations of the future.

SCHOOL OF NURSING BUILDING

This building was erected in 1956. Within these walls converge the paths of many conflicting beliefs and many varying thoughts but a culmination of many goals.

Dedication

We, the daughters of the Medical College of S. C. School of Nursing, are fortunate in having one who can hear our problems day in and day out and still remain a cheerful, sympathetic listener. You always have time to pause for a moment in your busy day to help us as we stumble along our pathway. You not only have an open heart and a sympathetic manner in regard to our problems, but you also attempt to understand us.

The fair treatment and good advice you have given have made you more than a friend to all.

We, the graduating class, proudly dedicate the 1961 edition of the Tres Anni to you, Miss Virginia Holcombe, whose outstanding character and personality will remain in our hearts in after years.

Miss Virginia Holcombe

In Tribute

KENNETH M. LYNCH, M. D., D.Sc., LL.D.

Dr. Lynch received his M.D. Degree from the University of Texas, and is the recipient of the honorary LL.D. degree from both the University of South Carolina and the College of Charleston, as well as the honorary D.Sc. degree from Clemson College.

He came to the Medical College of South Carolina as professor of pathology in 1913. He was appointed Vice-Dean at the Medical College in 1935, Dean in 1944, and President and Dean of the Faculty in 1949.

Among his many honors are the Gold Medal of the American Medical Association for scientific research, the Research Medal of the Southern Medical Association, as well as First Award in scientific exhibits, the Distinguished Service Award, and the Distinguished Service Citation and Medal, American Cancer Society.

Dr. Lynch served as President and Dean of the Faculty of the Medical College of South Carolina from 1949 until October 1960. Throughout this period and the preceding years, he was interested and active in all phases and duties of the Medical College.

Upon Dr. Lynch's suggestion in 1919 the Roper Training School of Nurses became the School of Nursing of the Medical College of South Carolina. It was his opinion that the nurse should be adequately educated to serve effectively, and with the incorporation of the School of Nursing with the Medical College, a more extensive educational program was adopted.

The ground was broken by Dr. Lynch for the new School of Nursing Building in 1956, and in 1960 he was responsible for obtaining funds for building the swimming pool, which is used by the students of the Medical Center.

Dr. Lynch undertook the building program of the Medical College Hospital, which provides modern surroundings for complete nursing education.

Administration and Faculty

JOHN TINDAL CUTTINO, B.S., M.D.
Acting President and Dean of the Faculty
Medical College of South Carolina

Dr. John Tindal Cuttino, native of Sumter, South Carolina, is a graduate of the College of Charleston and the Medical College of South Carolina School of Medicine and became the dean of the latter in 1951. The following year he became professor of pathology. He received honorary membership to the South Carolina Academy of General Practitioners and the American Academy of General Practitioners in 1953. Dr. Cuttino is listed in "Who's Who in America", "American Men of Science", "Medical Specialists", and "Who's Who in American Education". After serving as Executive Vice President of the Medical College during the 1959-1960 session, in July 1960, he accepted the position as President of the Medical College of South Carolina.

MISS RUTH CHAMBERLIN, RN, B.S., M.A.
Dean of the School of Nursing
Professor of Nursing

Miss Chamberlin was graduated from the Mt. Sinai Hospital School of Nursing in New York City. She received her B.S. and M.A. degrees in Nursing Education and Administration from Teacher's College, Columbia University in New York City.

She has served as Night Supervisor at Mt. Sinai Hospital, Assistant Director of Nursing at Rochester General Hospital, and Educational Director and Director of Nursing at the Syracuse University School of Nursing. Miss Chamberlin has served as Educational Director of the School of Nursing of the Medical College of South Carolina, Director of Nursing at Roper Hospital, and now devotes full time as Dean of the School of Nursing of the Medical College of South Carolina. During World War II she had leave of absence when she held the rank of Major in the Army Nurse Corps as Chief nurse of Mt. Sinai Hospital Unit.

In organizational work following active participation on many committees Miss Chamberlin became first president of the South Carolina State League for Nursing Education; is past president of the State Nurses' Association, and has been the nurse representative to the Executive Committee of the South Carolina State Board of Health since 1949.

Miss Chamberlin was made a member of the Delta Kappa Gamma, honorary sorority for teachers, and was also included in the first edition of "Who's Who of American Women" in 1958.

In 1959 Miss Chamberlin was recommended to "Who's Who in American Education" and is listed in that publication.

MEDICAL COLLEGE HOSPITAL

The Medical College Hospital, where are put to use the skills and knowledge learned in theory. Here practical experience under watchful guidance helps mold skilled nurses.

PINEHAVEN TUBERCULOSIS HOSPITAL

For an understanding knowledge of tuberculosis nursing, a six weeks affiliation is spent at Pinehaven. Insight is gained into the psychological as well as physical needs of the patient with a long term confining illness.

SOUTH CAROLINA STATE HOSPITAL

Here each student nurse spends a three month affiliation studying psychiatric nursing to learn to better understand her patients and herself.

SCHOOL OF NURSING

Here in the School of Nursing Building are spent minutes, hours, days, and weeks in preparation for our chosen career in a triad of study, work, and play.

ALUMNI CLINIC

MEDICAL COLLEGE CLINIC

During the senior year students rotate through the clinics in a two-weeks period. These clinics are also visited by students while they are on special services.

Class History

On September 9, 1958, fifty-eight aspiring Florence Nightingales began a walk down a road which was soon to be paved pebble by pebble with each new experience in their chosen profession. Those who have traveled this road before told of the pleasures and hardships at each new turn and so, with this knowledge, we began our walk with enthusiasm and vigor.

Mass confusion reigned on entrance day and the only positive fact we knew was that our new roommate certainly had a lot of odds and ends.

Our first "Big Sister-Little Sister" Party was a welcome we shall long remember. We laughed whole-heartedly, if but a bit vaguely, at the skits whose real meaning would soon be revealed to us in the days to follow.

As the days passed our roommates changed from the stranger at the other desk to a close, or at least recognizable, friend and our "big sister" became the source of the "true facts of nursing".

It seemed our class could really raise the roof, for on a quiet afternoon in September the furnace welcomed us lustily by throwing her hat in the sky.

Along with a new routine came study hall, written excuses, giving baths, anatomy, hurricanes, and our first floor duty on the wards of Old Roper. The clanging sound of the fire alarm resounding through the nurses' home is a lesson we shall long remember also as a part of our first six months.

With the passing of ward practicals and final exams, we passed from our Preclinical Days. On the night of February 20, 1959, we realized the seriousness of our service as we repeated the Nightingale Pledge and our caps were added as a new and most respected part of our uniform. On this important night we all stood proudly and sang the four verses of "Others", if not with the right words at least with the right spirit.

At this point we rounded the first bend in the road and as we looked upon the remainder, our goal still seemed far away.

During the following months our class really began to feel like a part of the school and the hospital. We were now members of Student Government and we participated in the Miss Medical College Contest in which Barbara Elsey was selected first runner-up. The first section of our class began the hot summer in the diet kitchen and operating room. Evening duty kept us up later than usual and we were now assisting with I.V.'s with all the dexterity we could muster. As we accepted these responsibilities, we also had to accept a new path. The distance between our rooms and the office of our dean was worn thin through constant use. This we discovered was part of the past, present, and future in the lives of each student nurse.

As the summer ended so began our second year on September 3, 1959. We now acquired our first stripe and our first "little sisters".

On October 17, 1959, as the doors of Old Roper Hospital closed a great part of the hearts of each of us remained within those walls reliving the long hours, the new friends, and experiences found therein.

In the late fall the arrival of hurricane "Gracie" found us with every available container filled with water in case of shortage, which we soon found to be a fallacy; for the next few days we walked in water, and even lived with water on the floor until mops were available.

Our second year passed in a flurry of classes, mid-winter vacations, and snow in March. We began our rotations to State Hospital, Obstetrics, and then Pediatrics. September 13, 1960, brought with it two black stripes and so as we turned another bend in the road, our goal was now in sight.

With our third year in full swing, Eva Brumfield was elected president of the Student Government Association and she, with other members of the school were off to conventions filled with work and pleasures.

Christmas arrived and brought with it Santa Claus, the Christmas Dance, decorating parties, and cold dark mornings at 6:00 A.M., which came very early.

Then the spring of the year--the awakening of the earth and also the awakening of the students fifteen minutes earlier in order to tread the path to Pinehaven Tuberculosis Hospital. Clinic, Emergency Room, and Professional Adjustments II are all behind us with only the vast future ahead.

June 1, 1961--the Day of Days--the termination of the road--Graduation.

Though many for whom the road was too rough or too long faltered along the way, those of us who reamined found the pebbles of experience worth the price.

Although we cannot see beyond the next bend, we can turn and look with pleasure upon "THE ROAD WE TOOK".

THE ROAD WE TOOK

It seems not many moons ago
On that September morn
When we awoke wide-eyed before
The early crack of dawn.

And with the dawn that morn there came
A bright new life for us.
We started walking down the lane
That's walked by every nurse.

Mass confusion reigned within
The walls of our new home
As we met girls who'd be our friends
Through all the years to come.

The new life that awaited us
Was filled with joy and tears.
As capping came, on us was thrust
Responsibility with some fears.

The days passed with quickening speed;
Knowledge was our forethought.
Others their sound advice to heed . . .
To follow on as we were taught.

And finally came the end, our goal.
Then as we turned and looked,
It was there we saw our dreams unfold
While behind us lay THE ROAD WE TOOK.

Class Prophecy

'Twas the night 'fore class reunion,
And all through the states,
Our hearts were all wondering
About our classmates.
Would they still be the same girls
We knew long ago?
We hoped that they would,
And today we know.

Sylvia Ammons has her cup of coffee.
Stella Bailey is still spending all her free time with Ray.
Delores Baldini always has a helping hand for all.
And Anne Ballard has kept her famous giggle.
Libby Baxley has just stepped out of another dream.
Jane Beach is still smiling.
Joyce Blakeney will always be "George", whose word can make the grey day sunny.
Eva Brumfield's beautiful voice is still filled with song and kindness.
Allison Cantley has remained as busy as a bee.
Julie Peeples Causey loves the medical profession from head to toe.
Dodie Chandler is always present and accounted for.
Hazel Clardy's smile is as lovely as ever.
Libby Dority has never had to shout to make herself heard.
Evelyn Duncan always has a pleasant word for everyone.
Dottie Eadon is the mischievous one in thought, word, and deed.
Deana Eldridge still has her marvelous memory.
Barbara Elsey has remained lovely and laughable.
Marguerite Creech Garrett is still the good cook and good-looker she always was.
Surely Jo Grissom still has her size nine foot and size twelve heart.
Carolyn Ham has an answer to every problem.
Becie Hargrove intensely dislikes all men except one.
Jackie Lavigno will always be the freckled-faced "femme fetale".
Geraldine Main cares much and speaks little.
Carolyn Martin will always be "Wallhalla" with her up-country drawl.
Rose Wood McConnell is calling, "Anyone for bridge?"
Linda Miller still has the prettiest blush.
Rita Pink Moore is as merry as the Christmas Spirit with her red hair and green eyes.
Nancy Moorer is always ready for a party.
Diane Morton is planning for the past, present, and future.
Nancy O'Hear has remained short on hair, but long on friendliness.
Carol Parker is still an ardent "Army" fan.
Surely Pat Stogner has remained the gracious lady that she was.
Sandra Stumpf is still cute and cloudy.
Paula Trussell has become the Obstetrical nurse of the class.
Joyce Walker is still the beautiful dreamer.
Becky Wallace is always as sweet as sugar cane.
Kat Wallace still represents the aristocrary of John's Island.
Bettie Williams is ever the spirit of Charleston.
Mary Woods continues "mindin' young'uns."

The minute we meet there
Our hearts fill with cheer.
Twenty years have not changed us,
The same girls are here.

Class Prophet

Last Will And Testament

We, the graduating class of 1961, being of staunch constitution and unfaltering intellect, desiring to distribute some of our worldly estate to the underclassmen of this our Alma Mater, do hereby Make, Publish, and Declare This to be Our Last Will and Testament on this the first day of June, 1961.

We, Sylvia Ammons and Jo Grissom, leave our road to the "up-country" to any future student nurse coming 'way down here to school.

I, Stella Bailey, leave my ability to listen to any and everyone talk about passing State Boards to all future classes of the Medical College of South Carolina School of Nursing.

I, Deloris Baldini, will to the next person who needs to depend on an elderly motorized chariot to get her to work and classes on time, my uncanny luck in having it stop or balk on days off or on vacation.

I, Anne Ballard, do hereby will and bequeath my ability "to stay on a diet" to any poor soul who thinks she has any will power.

I, Mary Elizabeth Baxley, do hereby leave my ambition to join the Army and be an "Old Maid" to anyone who is unlucky enough to receive a Citadel minature their Senior year at the Ring Hop.

I, Jane Beach, do hereby will my ability to enjoy State when others didn't to my "Little Sister" Rosemary Sellers, and leave hoping I have retained a little of what I was supposed to learn so that I can put it into practice.

I, Eva Brumfield, head very quietly for Louisiana, leaving the file box and its contents, the well-worn seat in R.C.'s office, and my supply of Headache Pills to anyone I can get to take them!!

I, Allison DuBose Cantley, being of sound mind and body, do hereby will and bequeath to Barbara Semken and Cynthia Brant my ability to receive two dozen red roses once a week for six months and find that "Brer Rabbit" sent them. Last, but not least, to "Ginny" King I leave my position as Editor of the Tres Anni, and with it she also inherits my bulletin board full of "souvenirs".

I, Julia Peeples Causey, being of unsound mind and body, will my ability to live thirty-six hours out of every twenty-four to any student nurse considering marriage while still in training.

I, Dodie Chandler, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to get a steak dinner, at least twice a week while at State, to Jerri Roof; and to Joan Page I leave my love of nursing.

I, Hazel Clardy, do hereby will my ability to decide between the "Navy and the Citadel" to anyone who may have as much fun as I did in trying.

I, Libby Dority, do hereby leave my ability to remain "unattached" for three years to Vivian Hill, Beverly Smith, and Bonnie Bonnette.

I, Evelyn Duncan, do hereby will my monthly visits to Dr. Dennis to any married student who might need them.

I, Dotty Eadon, do hereby leave my newly acquired ability to stay in at night and be content to Laurel Tolley; to my "Little Sister" Rochelle Walton, I leave my height.

I, Deana Eldridge, do hereby leave my popularity with the Charleston Fire Department to anyone unlucky enough to earn it.

I, Barbara Elsey, do hereby leave my ability to make so many goofs and still get out of training to my "Little Sister" Rachel Ball.

I, Marguerite Garrett, being one of "those" who has long hair, do will to any poor "Probie" with long hair, one old worn-out net in hopes that they won't get caught without it as much as I did.

I, Carolyn Ham, do leave my unlimited overnights in hopes someone has a better use for them than I did.

I, Becie Hargrove, being of mostly body and almost no mind at this point, do hereby will my ability to get my hair cut by anyone who will do it, at any time of the day or night; and my ability to be seen in public after this episode to my "little sister" Anna O'Bryan.

I, Jackie Lavigno, thinking myself sweet enough (Ha!) leave to my "Little Sister" Linda Damon half of my freckles. At this point may I remind you that freckles are brown sugar.

I, Geraldine Main, do hereby will and bequeath to Byrtie Altman my ability to wear my diamond in uniform throughout my senior year.

I, Carolyn Martin, will my Clemson jersey to anyone who loves and supports them as much as I do; my ability to remain unattached (not planned) to my "Little Sister" Martha Ann Martin; and my parking place out back to anyone who wants to fight for it.

I, Rose McConnell, leave to Sara McQuerns my ability to snare the ever-elusive cadet and to manuever him into matrimony.

I, Linda Miller, do hereby will my position as poet of my class to anybody unlucky enough to not be present at elections; my luck to be out of classes for six weeks without PM's or night duty during Citadel football season my senior year to Sara McQuerns and Barbara Semken; and last, but not least, I leave BSU to Evelyn Lawton and Geraldine McInnis, hoping they do a better job than I.

I, Nancy Moorer, being of worried mind and failing body, do hereby will my gray hair to anyone desiring it, hoping they can avoid the problems that caused mine.

I, Diane Morton, being of loud mind and body, do hereby will to my little sister, Clydia, my ability to wear a pair of unpolished "old lady" nurse's shoes as long as I did without getting kicked out of training.

We, Nancy O'Hear, Carol Parker, Sandy Stumpf, and Kat Wallace do hereby will and bequeath to our "Little Sisters" the ability to sleep through five alarm clocks: one a sudden and frightening clang, one a long low buzz, one a squeak, and two with thirty second tingles; also one slightly used and dog-eared note reading, "If you get up at 6 AM, please, wake me!"

I, Rita Pink, will my personalized "See me. R. C." notes to Sylvia Cox in hopes she has as much fun getting them as I did.

I, Pat Stogner, do hereby leave my ability to sleep at anytime - day or night, under any circumstances to my "Little Sister" Judy Smith: She'll need it.

I, Paula Claire Trussell, being of a sentimental nature, do hereby will and bequeath my undying love for my Alma Mater and the Medical College Hospital, and especially Eighth Floor, to my "adopted Little Sister" Pat Benton, with the hope that she will love it as much as I.

I, Joyce "T" Walker, do hereby leave to anyone, who like me, their middle name being name being "Trouble", the ability to get out of it.

I, Becky Wallace, will my ability to wake up by 6:20 AM without an alarm clock to the Freshman class, knowing that they will need it.

I, Bettie Williams, leave State Hospital to anyone who'll have it, and the paranoid tendencies I developed there to my "Little Sister" Helen Bohlen.

I, Mary Woods, will my ability to get doctors on the "Baby Sitting Black List" to Mary Ann Smith and Carol Kring.

Dottie Eadon, Lawyer.

"The quality of mercy is not strained. It droppeth as a gentle rain from heaven on the earth below."

Shakespeare

It is now we come to them with mercy in our hands and love upon our lips. Those to whom we administer wait for the evidence of these manifestations. With what small effort it may take; we smile and they smile, we care and they care, we give and they take with all of their hearts open to our every kindness our every word, and deed.

Ah, but do only we give and never take? With each "thank you", and "please, come back, Nurse", we receive the gifts of dependence with trust and hope with faith for a better tomorrow.

The joys of mercy--"more kindness than justice requires"--dropping a thousandfold from heaven unto earth to those who give as well as receive. As quietly we go about our deeds asking no praise--only the smile of a child, the lullaby of a mother's lips, the strong cry of new life, the assurance of a job well done--yesterday, today, and forever.

This is the intangible--this is nursing.

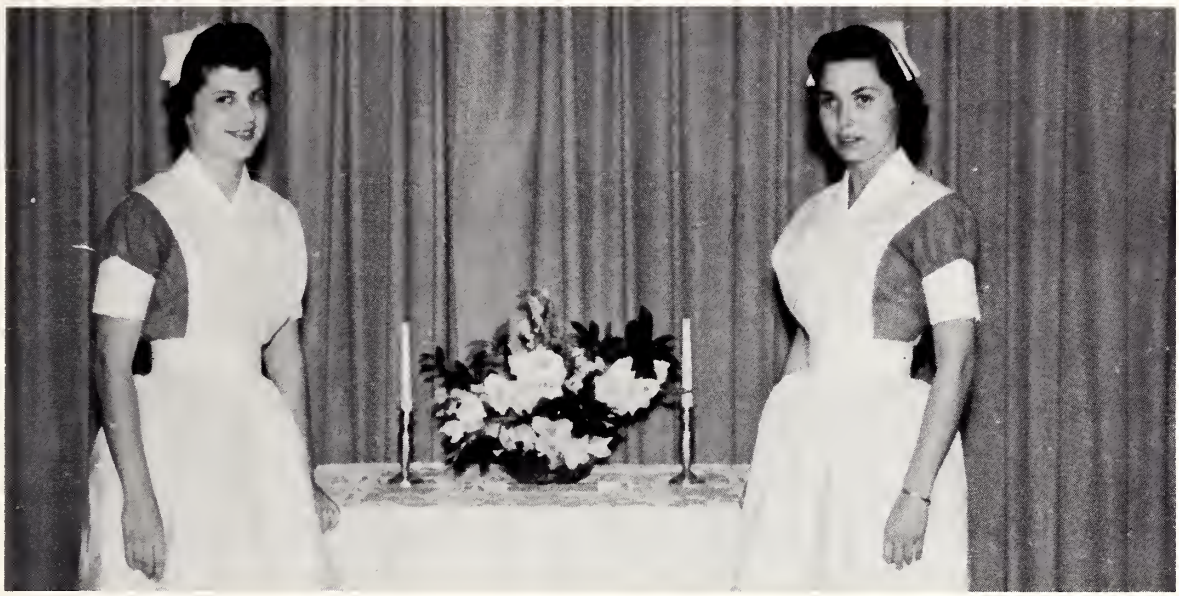
South Carolina State Student Nurses' Association Convention



Helen Bohlen and Hazel Clardy were elected representatives to the South Carolina State Student Nurses' Association Convention.

Ruby Price, our talent representative, won first place in the State Talent Contest with a dramatic reading, "Thirty Pieces of Silver". She will represent South Carolina at the national Convention in Cleveland, Ohio which convenes April 7-10, 1961.

The annual State Student Nurses' Association Convention met October 13-14, 1960, in Columbia, South Carolina. The convention was a time for meeting students from other schools and finding out what was new and important in nursing, locally and nationally.

Planning, discussion, cooperation, and fellowship helped to make a busy and full convention. The convention opened with a business meeting for the nomination of officers of the South Carolina State Student Nurses' Association and formally drew to a close on Friday with announcement of the newly elected officers. Helen Bohlen and Rita Pink of the Medical College of South Carolina School of Nursing were elected Vice President and Recording Secretary, respectively.

The Methodist Student Movement is a Christian student organization supported by the Methodist Church for students of all denominations. MSM services are held each Wednesday night for the purpose of fellowship and devotion. This year's activities have included assisting with a Christmas party for underprivileged children, caroling at a nursing home, and Christmas communion for all students.

Dear God,

Today was a busy one but not too exhausting, as you know. I went on wards at seven o'clock. One of my patients was to go to surgery. We had an hour before time to go. In preparation for the operation he talked to You. I remember so well some of his prayer. He prayed for us, the doctors and nurses. He realized it was the surgeons' skill that You had given which was to meet his need. And that we nurses would attend him with competence and devotion.

This experience awakened in me the fact that we are working with Your people. And that You make Yourself known in deeds, rather than in words; that You are working through me. Give me faithfulness in my task, patience in anxiety, and skill in my efforts. Add to my will a readiness to follow Thy guidance, to my heart a compassion like unto that of the Great Physician, who ministered both lovingly and without favor.

Thank you for this experience.

Strengthen my faith and give me courage to do my task well. As a student help me to learn to be skilled, to be efficient, to have confidence, to love, to be kind, and to be understanding. Work on, in, and through me, I pray. Amen.

Baptist Student Union

The Baptist Student Union is a Christian youth organization sponsored by the Baptist Church. Its main objective is to provide Christian guidance and fellowship through varied programs, which include discussions, guest speakers, and films. The B. S. U. acts to meet the spiritual needs of the campus through activities including deputations to churches, teaching Sunday School, programs at the Charleston Good Will Center, caroling at Christmas and participation in Religious Emphasis Week. The group functions under the leadership of its elected officers and the capable advice of Mr. Buddin, Advisor.

Characteristic of fellowship, after the program, is the blend of voices around the piano. Whether composing new lyrics or reviewing a favorite hymn, this part of the evening is always fun.

ALMA MATER

Dear Alma Mater
This we pledge to thee,
Throughout our lives,
Our love and loyalty.
Please shed your light
With wisdom, truth, and will
So that our lives
May all thy aims fulfill.

Teach us the way for courage,
Strength in need,
Give us the faith
To serve and to succeed.
Our school we love,
Thy cause of health is right,
Our Alma Mater
Help us with thy might.

We praise thy name,
And pledge our loyalty.
We lift our song
Of triumph constantly.
May you be strong
And grow for years to come.

Dear Ole Tres Anni,

Here we have completed your pages once again. Some good, some bad, some humorous, some sad--but let us say that they are all from the bottom of our hearts, even if they aren't classified as fine arts.

Meeting last-minute deadlines, stealing pictures, drawing lay-out sheets, and typing write ups was fun--from the moment our task was begun. Together we have worked, compiling your pages--and now just look--A new 1961 yearbook!!!

In Appreciation

MISS SUE LUNDY

June 1, 1961

Dear Miss Lundy,

We can find no words at this time to express our gratitude and appreciation to you, our capable and willing advisor, for your untiring efforts during this past year.

The year 1960-'61 is fraught with memories of days gone by, but it lingers still in the hearts of those who made this portrayal possible. That the story of THE ROAD WE TOOK may live anew in our hearts in after years, you helped us greatly in weaving a tapestry in picture and in word--a sequence of events that we tried to present but could never have done so without your able guidance and assistance.

You are too humble to expect recognition, too deserving to be forgotten. For this, we would like to be able to do something more for you than just saying "thank you", but since we could never repay you for the deeds you have done, it is in all sincerity that we say "thank you" for everything.

Sincerely,
TRES ANNI Staff

"Early to bed and early to rise" is an old familiar quotation, but it seems that some of us have changed this to "late to bed and early to rise". It is impossible to produce a yearbook overnight; therefore, countless hours have been spent in order to "make the best better". Those long hours which we spent in rearranging the layout four times, drawing up master layout sheets, proofreading copy, and giving everything a final "o.k." are among the things we shall never forget.

Without the able assistance of my capable staff in producing the necessary funds and also in meeting deadlines, our dreams for this yearbook could never have become a reality.

On behalf of the TRES ANNI staff, I would like to express our sincere appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parker for the many hours they have given in making pictures and having them developed and returning them to us. They were surely lifesavers for those deadlines.

The interest shown by the faculty, administration, and student body has increased our desire to do our best work this year. The many times we heard, "When will we get our annuals?" or "How is the annual progressing?" has been a much-needed stimulant to make us prod a little harder.

Last but not least, the keen interest and enthusiasm displayed by our wonderful advisor, Miss Sue Lundy, has played a vital part in helping us publish this yearbook.

We hope that this portrayal of the road which has had many bends, but also many gratifying moments, will be among your most prized possessions in after years.

And so we present this, our 1961 edition of the TRES ANNI, to you with pride and a great sense of satisfaction, and we hope it will preserve some of the fond memories of the Florence Nightingales of 1961. . . . .as we continue walking down "THE ROAD WE TOOK".
